

Abstract

A binary search tree including a multiplicity of nodes having pre-determined addresses and organised in a multiplicity of levels, and a hardware engine for the insertion of elements in the nodes, being operable to make a search for the highest available node in a pattern in which all the nodes at each level beginning at the highest are searched before the search continues to the next lower level

10
15
20
25
30
35
40
45
50
55
60
65
70
75
80
85
90
95
100